

Please do not make any changes that would limit K-LOVE. We listen to this station every day, in our cars and at home. Even my high school teenagers and my college freshman, away at school, tune to K-LOVE in their cars. Life is hard enough. K-LOVE is a source of encouragement, a place for the heart and head to recover between the challenging events of the day. It is a very effective tool to regroup, de-stress, and prepare to respond to the world with patience, grace and peace. We don't have the option to relax in a hot-tub or hide away with a good book during the course of the day, but we can spend a few minutes being "fed" by the music and inspirations of K-LOVE, and that can make all the difference in how we deal with each other and the people around us. Communities that have a higher percent of K-LOVE listeners tend to be safer, friendlier places to live. K-LOVE and services like it are a key part of the mix that makes for healthy communities. I can't imagine any programming on an LPFM broadcast that would even begin to compare to the benefits of having K-LOVE on the air. Please protect this service. Thank you.
